

	Intern of the Year	Intern Innovator	Intern Collaborator	Intern Leader	Peer Recognition	Rotational Supervisor	Mentor	Advocate
Description	Significant contributions to NIH and/or HHS goals and programs in a way that reflects positively on NIH Admin Intern Programs. Should represent the strongest overall intern nomination.	Creation of a novel program, solution or idea that supports or improves the efficiency and operation of the internship program or the IC/office in which they rotated.	Routinely provides a necessary, supporting role in developing/strengthening programs or projects and is viewed by many as a solid "team player" who has provided significant, valuable input and/or volunteered for unpopular tasks that have been critical to the success of programs and projects.	Demonstrates the skills and passion for leadership through a clear and motivating vision, strong communication skills, and the capacity for influencing others in a respectful and effective way to better the organization.	Has made significant contributions to the intern program and/or the intern community as recognized by their fellow interns. Demonstrates an "above and beyond" attitude and is a reliable member of and contributor to the intern community.	Recognize the effort of outstanding Rotational Supervisors who have made significant contribution toward the professional development of interns.	Aiding the mentee to find targeted, challenging and appropriate rotational assignments, serving as a technical resource, supporter and guide as the mentee goes through the program.	Recognizes individuals that have enhanced the Intern's experience, either assisting in completion of rotational assignments, development of their IDP, or increasing the intern's knowledge or understanding of NIH/DHHS/government policies and processes.
